A high-quality early childhood program sets children on the trajectory to future success. Our Program Quality Assessment (PQA) tool uses proven research to measure and improve classroom and program performance. We focus on supporting optimal child learning and development by helping programs build strong teacher-child interactions and engaging learning environments. Assessment - HighScope Assessment. HighScope uses authentic assessment to measure children's growth and development. Teachers generate brief written descriptions, or anecdotes, that objectively describe children's activities. They use these anecdotes, along with the tool's scoring and reporting features, to analyze children's development, plan activities to support continued development, track individual and overall classroom progress, and exchange meaningful developmental information with families about their child.
